Happy Fathers Day!

June 21stFathers Day. All June long, we are asked to honor the men in our lives: dads, husbands, brothers, sons, and uncles. We reminisce about the times we've shared with our dads as we were growing up. The lessons he taught us. Some of these lessons and traditions we have handed down to our own children.

When we think of a father, who comes to mind exactly? Many men are examples of the very vocation of fatherhood. You may think of your father, by birth or adoption, who loved and supported you throughout life, a church leader who takes on the role of a father by guiding you under God's light or God our Father, who is forever with us and loves us without condition.

Can you recall the day you became a father for the first time? What joy and expectations you had! Not only for your child, but also for yourself as a father. These are the memories we cherish and reflect upon on father's day. Sure, there were undoubtedly challenges, but that comes with the job.

Dads want nothing but the best for their children. You never stop being a dad, no matter where your children are or how old they are. You always want them to be happy.

To all of our fathers at Nye Square, enjoy your day! We are celebrating all of you today!

Elvis Shocks the Nation

By 1956, Elvis Presley had already hit No. 1 on the music charts with "Heartbreak Hotel," and he was becoming a rock 'n' roll sensation, but nothing prepared the public for his live performance of "Hound Dog" on The Milton Berle Show on June 5, 1956. Elvis had already appeared on television several times, including on The Milton Berle Show. But in these appearances, Elvis was always filmed close-up or behind his guitar. On June 5, the 21-year-old Elvis was televised head to toe, swinging his hips in wild gyrations as he danced, earning the moniker "Elvis the Pelvis." The next day, critics across the country roundly criticized Elvis, calling him vulgar and untalented. Ed Sullivan declared Elvis would never appear on his show. None of this criticism stopped Elvis from becoming rock 'n' roll's first superstar. In the end, Elvis' critics had to eat their words.

Sporty Nickname Trivia Answers

1. Ted Williams. Ted Williams played left field for the Boston Red Sox from 1939 to 1960, but three of those years were spent in the military.
2. Boxing. He held the title of world middleweight champion from 1980 to 1987.
3. Joe DiMaggio. During his 13 years with the New York Yankees, DiMaggio won nine World Series titles.
4. George Herman Ruth Jr. His most famous nickname was Babe Ruth, of course. But how did he come by this well-known title? When he was recruited and signed to play for the Baltimore Orioles, Ruth was only 19, so Orioles owner Jack Dunn had to become Ruth's legal guardian. As a joke, Ruth was called "Dunn's new babe", which was later shortened to simply "Babe".
5. St Louis Cardinals. Stan Musial played outfield and first base for the Cardinals from 1941 to 1963, except for 1945, when he was in the military.
6. "Magic". Magic Johnson played for the Lakers from 1979 to 1991. He returned in 1996 for one final season with the team.
7. New Jersey. Jersey Joe Walcott was born in Merchantville, New Jersey. He held the world heavyweight title from 1951 to 1952. He was 37 years old and the oldest man to ever win the title at the time.
8. Pete Rose. He is the only player in Major League history to have played more than 500 games at each of the following positions: first base, second base, third base, left field, and right field.
9. Tiger. Eldrick Woods legally changed his name to Tiger on his 21st birthday. His father had called him Tiger since he was a child.
10. Shaquille Rashaun O'Neal. Shaq signed the biggest contract in NBA history in 1996, a seven-year, $120-million deal with the Los Angeles Lakers.
